Consent for Unencrypted Electronic Mail

As a client of Terry & Associates, CPA, we will be in communication with you with encrypted emails. This is our standard office procedure. These procedures are in place to protect your sensitive financial information. While this adds an additional step to access your data, there are many benefits to using our secure email provider, Encyro.

- Encyro uses bank level encryption. This ensures that only you can see the sensitive information sent to you.
- By creating a free account with Encyro, you can always have secure access to your information.

If you do not wish for us to communicate with you via Encyro, or any additional encrypted email solution, you may sign below. By signing below, you acknowledge the risks associated with communicating your financial and tax information via unencrypted email and hereby consent to receive such communications despite those risks. By signing below, you agree to hold Terry & Associates, CPA harmless for unauthorized use, disclosure, or access to your financial and tax information sent to the email address(es) provided below. If you wish to revoke your consent to unencrypted electronic mail, please send us a letter stating you wish to begin receiving communications via encrypted mail. Otherwise, the consent is in place for the extent of our engagement.
